Washington, Lincoln Both Termed Martyrs

E. H. Snow Discusses Similarity of Patriots Before Legion

POST MEMBERSHIP IS UP

In a comprehensive discussion of the nation's two greatest patriots, Edward H. Snow told Narberth Legionnaires Monday night that "Lincoln died a martyr with his people" while "Washington was martyred by living."

His comparison showed many points in common between the two men. Both escaped from an atmosphere of idleness to work, and work hard, for self-improvement and the betterment of others—Lincoln from the sustenance scale of his pioneer neighbors, Washington from the luxuries that surrounded a landed aristocrat.

Mr. Snow is principal of the Lower Merion Junior High School.

His address preceded the Washington's Birthday meeting of the Harold D. Speakman Post at the Legion Room in the Community Building.

More delay faces the installation of the Memorial grouping, including the cannon, at the flagpole on the Windsor avenue recreation field, it was reported.

Commander Frank J. Dwyer announced that membership in the post, now thirty-seven, was already in excess of 1936's figure of twenty-nine. Introduced as new members were Burns Best and Fay H. Snyder.

Frank A. Schrepfer, past national commander of the Military Order of the Purple Heart, thanked the post for its participation in the Purple Heart ball held Saturday night at the Benjamin Franklin Hotel.

Ditter Hits Assembly for Stand on Court

President Roosevelt's proposal to pack the Supreme Court of the United States would "make the Constitution a mere scrap of paper," Hon. J. William Ditter, Congressman from Montgomery County, declared recently.

His comment was called forth by the action of the Democrats in the Pennsylvania General Assembly pledging support to the Roosevelt program.

"I regret exceedingly that the Members of the Legislature who endorsed the President's proposal regarded so lightly the fundamental personal protections of the Constitution," Mr. Ditter said. "Apparently the memory of Valley Forge and of Independence Hall have been obliterated for the moment by the enthusiasms of a reckless partisanship."

Mulieres Announce Schedule

The March meeting of the Mulieres of the Narberth Fire Company will be held on Monday, March 8, at 2 P. M. in Elm Hall.

The third in the series of card parties will be held in Elm Hall, Wednesday, March 10, and will open with a platter and dessert luncheon. Mrs. J. E. Burrell and Mrs. William I. Ezickson are the co-chairmen. Other members of the committee are Mrs. Lindley Trotter, Mrs. Harry Hollar, Mrs. E. G. Griswold, Mrs. William Rogers, Mrs. George Martin, Mrs. John Wetzell, Mrs. Ralph Mizner, Mrs. F. E. Chamness, Mrs. Walter R. O'Sullivan, Mrs. H. F. Darnes and Mrs. John D. Beck.

$21,165 for Flood Relief

At the February meeting of the Main Line Branch No. 1, Southeastern Chapter, American Red Cross, Mrs. William R. Mooney, reported total flood relief receipts of $21,165.47 with an additional donation to pay for postage used to acknowledge gifts.

The Membership Department reported total receipts of $16,326.

Edwin W. Ehmman, chairman of the Disaster Committee, in a statement extended thanks to all who aided in the recent Ohio River Valley emergency.

Sports Editor and Family Driven From Home by Gas

E. J. Pollock and his family, of Avon road, Narberth, narrowly escaped asphyxiation last Sunday. Mrs. Pollock awakened at 7 A. M. and finding that the house was full of gas, the family promptly left the house in their night clothes. Mr. Pollock discovered a leak in the coil of their automatic gas heater and notified the gas company. He then brought his automobile from the garage and the family sat for an hour in the machine, while repairs were made and the house made safe to enter.

Mr. Pollock is sports editor of the Evening Public Ledger.

County Commissioners Defend 1937 Budget

Deny Assertions Made by Pennsylvania Economy League as to Spending Policy

Fred C. Peters, of Ardmore, William D. Ridgway, of Bethayres, and James S. Potter, of Norristown, Montgomery County Commissioners, this week vigorously defended the 1937 budget and general money spending policy of the county. This action was taken in answer to the assertions of the Pennsylvania Economy League that the county is far exceeding its means in its present program, and spending thousands of dollars more than necessary.

Pointing out that the receipts of the county in the past few years have been materially reduced, the Commissioners noted that the county government had been carried on with no increase in tax rate in spite of the fact that there was need for even greater expenditures to relieve unemployment through relief work.

In a joint statement issued this week the commissioners disagreed with the contention of the Economy League that there is no longer a need for county-provided employment, and that business has absorbed all unemployment. They said: "We frankly state that there are more men applying for work on the county this year than ever before." In addition to this necessity of providing work relief, the county must maintain its property in a good state of repair.

Apparently the general public has shown its approval of the 1937 program, since at a public hearing last Friday, after the statement of the Economy League had been publicized, no one appeared to contest the proposed expenditures and tax rate for 1937.

In the road resurfacing program, which last year called for a county expenditure of $700,000, the appropriation for this form of county aid in 1937 has been cut to $300,000. This cannot be eliminated, as the Economy League suggests, the Commissioners pointed out, as in the end it would cost the county more to rebuild the roads than to keep them repaired at the present low scale of prices.

Through this program townships and boroughs have been able to procure money for road repairs which otherwise they could have gotten only through raising tax rates. On the contrary, local unemployment has

Window Broken at The Pike

A plate glass window was broken at The Pike on Montgomery avenue, Narberth, early Sunday morning by youths whom Lower Merion police believe held a grievance against the proprietor, Daniel Ely.

The boys threw a milk bottle through the window, then jumped into their car and sped away toward City Line, police learned.

The Pike is a rendezvous for the younger folk of this section.

Washington's Birthday Program

The Dr. Benjamin Rush Chapter of N. S. D. A. R. gave their annual Washington's Birthday program to the pupils of the Narberth Public School, from the fourth to the eighth grades, on Friday. Mrs. Franklin R. Lindsay, the regent, presided.

Mrs. Joseph H. Miller, chairman of programs, presented Dorothy M. Curran of the National School of Elocution and Oratory, who gave a recital of the Life of Mary Ball Washington, Mount Vernon, and several short selections.

Firemen Soon Control Blaze at Residence

Merion Fire Causes Large Damage; Penn Valley Man Seared

VOLUNTEER CUTS HAND

Within twenty minutes after their arrival three local fire companies had under control a blaze at the home of George F. Shaw, Haywood and Bowman avenues, Merion, Sunday morning, but not before several thousand dollars damage had been done to the $50,000 residence.

Mrs. Shaw, learning of the blaze, hastened to her Main Line home from the Shaw farm, "Glad Acres," at Chester Springs. On arrival, she found that the volunteers had confined the flames to the living room, hallway and stairway on the first floor.

With her chauffeur she removed several thousands of dollars worth of jewelry, including a number of valuable heirlooms, from a second-floor wall safe, which would have been endangered except for the efficient work of the firemen.

Companies at the scene were from Bala-Cynwyd, Narberth and West Manayunk.

In gaining entrance to the house, Theodore Young, of the Union Fire Company of Bala-Cynwyd, received a badly cut hand when he broke a living room window.

Mrs. Shaw believed that the fire started from a short circuit. About two weeks ago she said all the bells in the house started ringing and Mr. Shaw called an electrician.

No one was in the house when the fire was discovered by a governess who was pushing a baby carriage on the sidewalk. She ran to 227 Bowman avenue and told William Folwell, 12, who sent in the alarm.

Mr. Shaw, who is treasurer of Henry K. Wampole & Co., Inc., Philadelphia, left several days ago for Florida, expecting to be joined this week by Mrs. Shaw.

While trying to save the family washing from a burning shed adjoining his home at Fairview and Summit avenues, Penn Valley, on Monday morning, Eli P. Ewing, 62, suffered second degree burns of the head, face and hands.

He was taken to the Bryn Mawr Hospital, while firemen from Narberth, West Manayunk and Bala-Cynwyd kept the blaze from spreading to nearby buildings. Damage was about $500.

Wednesday at 6.24 P. M. the Union Fire Company of Bala-Cynwyd was called to extinguish a chimney fire at Barmouth Station, near Westminster Cemetery.

Psychologist to Address Women's Club Tuesday

Dr. Edward M. Westburgh, chief of the psychological service of the Pennsylvania Hospital, and on the faculty of the University of Pennsylvania, will speak before the Women's Community Club of Narberth Tuesday afternoon in the clubrooms in the Community Building on Windsor avenue.

His topic will be "Character and Personality Development."

Dr. Westburgh, who has lectured throughout the country as head of the psychological institute and as consultant to industrial and commercial organizations, to Haverford College and to several preparatory schools, has a wide experience in this field. The program will be in charge of the Department of Education, Mrs. W. R. Knauer, chairman. Mrs. S. C. Campbell will be the hostess.

Narberth Beats Rosemont But Loses to Penn Wynne

Rosemont dropped a 45-41 decision to the league-leading Narberth five last Thursday night at the Penn Wynne School. Aiken, Lockwood and Soleiac led the offense.

Monday night Jay Neill's boys met a tartar in Penn Wynne and lost their first game of the second half, 36 to 28. Russ Herrmann made 13 points while Bob Knake, Penn Wynne center, scored an even dozen for the opposition.

Methodists Beat Wayne

Narberth M. E. five defeated Wayne Baptist in a Main Line Church League game this week, 28-25. Hawley, local forward, made six field goals, while Jim Turner, at center, made three from the floor and two free tries.

Corporation Taxes Force Industries To Leave State, Declares Dr. King

Declaring that we should tax on the proportionate ability to pay, Dr. Clyde L. King, noted tax expert, stated that the enormous burden of taxes on corporations is forcing millions of dollars out of Pennsylvania.

Dr. King, dean of the University of Pennsylvania Law School, former State Secretary of Revenue and author of numerous books, spoke at the luncheon meeting of the Lower Merion-Narberth Council of Republican Women held Tuesday at Erskine Hall, Haverford.

The flat tax rate levied by this State of 10 per cent on corporations, added to the 10 or 12 per cent they must pay on their payrolls and their local real estate tax, makes an enormous burden, he pointed out.

As a result corporations are moving into neighboring States where they are not taxed.

According to Dr. King, you can't collect Federal estate taxes in a going business and not wreck the business.

"No other nation on the face of the earth taxes estates as we do," he said.

"Only one and one-quarter per cent of all the people in the United States paid an income tax last year and six States paid half of those taxes," the speaker declared. "The remaining forty-two States, however, get more subsidy for local relief."

"You must stop spending more money than you get in taxes or you will have inflation that will wipe out the value of every stock and bond in the United States as they were wiped out in Germany," he continued. "And the next depression will be so serious that we will all agree that we never had one before."

The program was arranged by Mrs. Carl H. Zipf, chairman of Political Activities.

Preceding the luncheon, at which the president, Mrs. John Y. Huber, Jr., presided, a panel discussion on

Salvation Army Hears H. P. Liversidge Speak on "Personal Charity"

Cynwyd Resident Sees Trend Toward Dependence Increasing

MRS. HODGENS SPEAKER

"We are emerging today from a great depression and with it has come changes in our economic and social life," declared Horace P. Liversidge, of Clywd road, Cynwyd, Friday.

Mr. Liversidge, who is vice-president and general manager of the Philadelphia Electric Company and honorary member of the Advisory Board of the Salvation Army, spoke at the luncheon meeting held at the Bellevue-Stratford, for volunteer workers in the Salvation Army Maintenance Fund Campaign.

"There is growing," he continued, "an impersonal approach to this question of charity which does not lead to the standards of social life we have heretofore cherished."

"Through State, municipal and Federal aid, we have seen wrongs done by those who feel that as long as some one will take care of them, why should they help themselves."

"The belief is spreading that the world owes everyone a living and some expect to continue in idleness. This will result in a degradation of our society as a whole," the well-known Cynwyd resident stated.

Mrs. H. Childs Hodgens, Lodges lane, Cynwyd, president of the Philadelphia Federation of Women's Clubs and Allied organizations, and member of the Salvation Army Advisory Board, spoke briefly.

Mrs. Hodgens commended the work done by the women's teams and mentioned the Bala-Cynwyd group as an outstanding example of those who always exceed their quota.

School Board Against Change in Collection

Directors Follow Council's Lead in Favoring Present Method

INSPECTION IS ASKED

Narberth's School Board at its February meeting passed a resolution opposing any change in the present system of tax collection in the borough. The resolution, in effect, is a protest against the proposed Pennsylvania Centralization Plan which would make the county treasurer tax collector for the entire county.

The resolution was similar to the one passed by Narberth Borough Council February 17.

The borough building inspector has been asked to make a special inspection of both public school buildings and to report to the board on their condition.

Changes in stage lighting and auditorium improvements, recommended by Principal, W. J. Drennen, were referred to the buildings and property committee.

Bala-Cynwyd-Narberth Club Hears of Japan's Problems

Bala-Cynwyd-Narberth Rotarians on Tuesday heard a discussion of problems facing the Japanese given by Lester Haworth, general secretary of the Philadelphia Y. M. C. A.

One, he said, is that half of the national budget is spent on the army and navy. Another mentioned is the farm problem, which is unsolved for 50 per cent of the population which is made up of farmers. A third problem cited is the demand of the army for a return to the old feudal ways with the army in control and the Emperor as a figurehead.

Russia, the speaker pointed out, is in a position as never before to defend her own territory with large stores of munitions in the East, a double-track railway and modern motor highways across Siberia.

The Spectator

The Public and Safety Propaganda

Automobile advertising nowadays makes no mention of the speed possibilities of the various cars and in other respects the procedure of this intelligent industry pays heed to the peril in which their business is placed by the constant increase in motor fatalities. Whether or not the total of 37,500 deaths predicted by the National Safety Council for 1936 was realized is not yet known, but all of us are aware of the devastating rate which prevailed the whole year through and 1937 is already showing an increase, due no doubt to the fact that the open winter has allowed more cars to remain on the road and also, perhaps, because the copious rain and fog have added to the perplexities and dangers of travel. As the spring season advances it is expected that the accidents will become more numerous, as a huge sale of new cars is in the offing and the startling record is that a far greater percentage of new cars is involved in smash-ups than of older cars, a fact which causes many to believe that the present design of cars must be altered radically and promptly for the sake of greater safety.

For the last five years word has been coming out of Detroit that the rear-engined car was about to be shown and the patents which have been going through Washington indicate that the departure is getting closer to production. Only recently Ford filed papers covering a brake to be used in connection with a rear engine and sharp eyes can see in some lines of certain General Motors cars a gradual slope to what the new idea will call for in the way of "car contour." There is no doubt that the project is receiving more attention, as it is hard to confute the claim that the restricted window area, long hoods and the lowered floors of recent years' models have had a substantial share in adding to the death rate. Particularly is it asserted that these "handicaps" to safe driving are accountable primarily for the increase in the number of children killed, 10% more in 1936 than in 1935, and it is well known that the gear trade is alert to the large tonnage which they think is in store for them as a result of the change, even if the public at large cannot be made fully aware of what is on the tapis, in view of the obvious effect it could have on current purchases.

The important subject is plainly one of many angles and conclusions regarding any feature of it should not be reached too quickly. On all sides of us there is evidence of what can be called a desperate effort to curtail the number of accidents, but it is not unfair to say that quite too much of the preaching on the need of safety is wasted on thin air. For instance, what possible impression can the saccharine and silly stuff which we see on the official billboards make on the mucker who headlongs himself and others to destruction and why are those in authority reluctant to assign this important publicity to qualified experts who can provide at least something which will "stick" and not be the brunt of constant wisecracks. Then, too, it is important, if proper heed is paid to well-established factors, that such signs should be scot-free from any evidence of politics or partisanship. Sonie may say that this is not a feature of consequence, but it is, as no part of the sign should do anything except command profound respect and, say what you will, the blatant sponsorship of men you voted against won't always help in increasing the interest and compliance which ought to be. Furthermore, there is sufficient discernment in a large part of the body politic as to make it aware of how these "signed signs" come about, and why they came about when they did, the whole idea being a throw-back to Tammany procedure in the use of public notices for the primary purpose of personal aggrandizement. Certainly whatever force the sign may have is not supplemented by having the names of individual officials also appear on it and, independent of the safety signs, it is a growing practice which should be discontinued else our officials bespread themselves far beyond their proper bounds.

Still speaking of signs, because they are read by so many people who do not seem to read anything else, we wonder how the editors of "Time" would handle a billboard presentation to drive the facts to an offending public? In similar speculation, there is no reason to doubt that one of the capable advertising agencies would welcome the large task with gusto and in any event, some kind of skilled direction should be drafted, as there is a wealth of impressive material on which to force the fight and not the least valuable of it (in view of the millions of low-priced cars being driven) is the extra cost which has to be paid by the reckless drivers themselves. Ford, for instance, reports that when their 1936 model was driven sixty-four miles an hour a gallon of gas lasted for only thirteen and one-half miles. At forty miles per hour, a gallon carried for twenty and one-half miles. General Motors Laboratories demonstrated that a quart of oil will last for 400 miles if a maximum of forty miles is maintained. If the speed is advanced to sixty miles per hour, a quart of oil will only last for fifty miles. In the case of tires, Goodyear advises that in the case of a car driven at 45.5 miles per hour the wear and tear on the rubber was only three-fifths as hard as on a car run at the rate of fifty-six miles an hour, only eleven miles faster, but 40% costlier as regards tire consumption. Those who are pinched to make their monthly payments would seem to have a real need for these economies and there is none who should not face the fact that 90% of all accidents are avoidable and also that moderate driving is the sign of real experience and intelligence, not to mention the honorable consideration it accords to the rights of others.

Regarding the Committee
Editor, Our Town:
"Have just noted that His Honor, the Burgess, has appointed a committee to look into the ways and means of improving the facilities of the borough. I also read that these men good and true were 'independent.' As they are all Republicans, it is evident that Democrats are not rated by His Honor and by the Editor as 'independent.'"

been provided for, and townships have been able to reduce their tax rates somewhat in the last few years. The Commissioners denied that there has been any substantial increase in the number of county employees, stating that the personnel of the offices has been added to only where absolutely necessary to handle the increased work caused, paradoxically, by the depression. As for county indebtedness, the statement continued: "It seems to us that Montgomery County, with a floating debt of $400,000, or $140 per capita, should be able to assume this 'small change' indebtedness, especially when our Federal Government has already contracted a debt of $250 per capita. . . . And furthermore, any funds so borrowed have been on the rate of three-quarters of one per cent."

In concluding, the Commissioners said that they expected all floating debts to be paid within the next two years, and that the seventy miles of roads now owned by the county will be maintained in the proper condition and in keeping with the needs of the county.

Shirley Temple in "Stowaway"

This Week-End at Narberth
"Stowaway," Shirley Temple's latest film, stars the mighty mite as a Chinese orphan left homeless by a bandit raid. In the film now at the Narberth she makes friends with Robert Young, an American playboy, and brings adventure and love to him and Alice Faye. Music and lyrics are by Mack Gordon and Harry Revel.

"Rembrandt," Monday and Tuesday, stars Charles Laughton as the great Netherlands painter who reached the height of fame at 21, and then faced misfortune, poverty and social ostracism before he was 35. Featured in support are Gertrude Lawrence and Elsa Lanchester (Mrs. Laughton).

Wednesday (Cash Award Night) Annabella, Henry Fonda and John McCormack are featured in the technical production, "Wings of the Morning."

Next week-end the Narberth will present "After the Thin Man" with Myrna Loy and William Powell.

Camporee Next Scout Activity

Beginning March 1, Main Line Troops will groom themselves for the major spring activity when they will hold their annual camporee. As in the past, Valley Forge will be the site of the camp grounds. Scout officials of the Council have explained to scoutmasters that competition is not a major purpose of the occasion. "These camporees are for the purpose of giving your patrols a chance to practice scoutcraft, experience for patrol leaders to build up the morale of your unit." Final score will not be announced. Troops having gained a certain predetermined number of points will be known as qualified troops.

Although the actual camporee will not be held until May 22-23, an achievement contest will be held which will lead up to the activities at Valley Forge.

Scouts Continue to Make Gains

Figures released from headquarters of the Valley Forge Council show that scouting in Suburban Philadelphia is making gigantic strides forward. Nearly 500 new members, twenty-nine new troops, eight new cub packs and a larger first class scout percentage are indicative of increased interest.

SUPPLEE MILK

BACKED BY A CENTURY OF CONFIDENCE • WE ALSO DISTRIBUTE WALKER-GORDON MILK

This is the final week of basketball along the Main Line, that is, so far as the regular scheduled games are concerned. The climax of the season begins next week when the leaders of the Suburban area go into action in the preliminaries of the State tournament.

Lower Merion has won the right to represent the First Division of the League in these play-off games. Just as Bill Anderson had to start the season last December without his full strength in the lineup; so will he have to enter the tournament minus at least one of his aces. Clarence Griffiths has been declared unable to play by his family physician. This decision is one of the greatest handicaps that could possibly be handed out to the coach. Griffiths has done more than any other one player to make the Maroon team a big-time competitor.

The toss of the coin calls for Lower Merion to meet Chester next Friday night and then, if they stay in the running, to meet the winner of the Coatesville-Clifton Heights game. The team that will offer the sternest opposition to the Maroon will be Coatesville. The boys from Chester County have improved considerably since they gave the Bulldogs a trouncing before Christmas.

Cheltenham was brushed aside rather handily last Friday evening at Lower Merion. The fast-stepping midgets from Old York road played hard to stop the scoring of Ramsey, Viguers & Co., but did not have the necessary ability. The final score was 35 to 21, and just about indicates the comparative strength of the two teams.

The final game of the season will be played tonight at Norristown. Bill Anderson indicated last Friday night that he would not take a chance of having some of his aces injured by putting them in this game. The odds are heavy that the varsity reserve will see most, if not all, of the action in the game tonight. It is quite possible that the reserves could win this one without any assistance from the starting five of the squad. The previous game between Lower Merion and Norristown resulted in complete annihilation for the Blue Eagles. The Maroon ran up a staggering score, holding the visitors to three or four field goals.

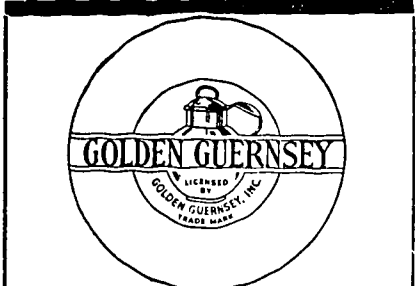

The chances are big that the boys from above the Schuylkill will go into the fray tonight in an angry mood. Fireworks.

Lower Merion Junior High School completes its regular schedule tonight in a game with Upper Darby Junior High, to be played at Ardmore. The Leopards have won fifteen out of the sixteen games played. They defeated Upper Darby 22 to 10 in a previous meeting.

On March 8 the Junior High boys enter the Montgomery County championship tournament to be held at Norristown.

There it goes! The annual March wrangle on the house temperature. Here's Mr. Tobias Tweetleson all "hot and bothered" because he's met with the annual spring and fall complaint—"this house has been like a hot-box!"

Our sympathies go out to both. Poor Tobias meant well. It was a cold morning—he arranged for a nice warm house all day. Instead the sun got busy... the air warm... the house plain hot... Mrs. Tweetleson suffered. We only hope this nice suburban couple will take our advice and convert their present system to clean, controllable gas heat. With the thermostatic control, this method keeps right up with the vagaries of spring weather.

We'll install Janitrol, Bryant or Welsbach Conversion Burners immediately on a small down payment. Price $195 cash for each, installed. Slightly higher on budget plan—3 years to pay.

You'll be particularly interested when we explain fully our convenient monthly budget payment plan on gas house heating... and our low combination gas rate.

"I'm one of the girls who make up the Bell Telephone Directories. Accuracy—with a capital A—is the big aim on my job. There are millions of chances for errors in the spelling of all those names, initials, addresses and telephone numbers. But we're mighty careful in our effort to get every letter and figure exactly right because to us they're not just names and numbers—they're people and telephones. So, every listing—name, address and telephone number—is checked and double checked. Then after the printer sets the type, each page is checked four separate times—by six experienced proof readers."

When things happen that you should know about; your name in the telephone book may be worth many times the small cost of telephone service. Business and social opportunities... new jobs... chances for extra work or extra sales... can find you without trouble if you're in the telephone directory. Millions of people refer to it daily. It's the nation's calling list.

More than 12,000,000 names are listed in the directories of Bell companies. You can go straight to any one of them—easily, quickly and economically—by telephone.
